LARGE CROWD ATTENDED THE BRYAN LECTURE

"Sixth—We want to know more than anything else how the military regime relates itself to Christianity? This is the issue that goes deepest, this is the challenge that is flung before the door of every Christian church and conscience. Is Christ a real conviction with a citizen or just a real convenience? Is He absolute or relative, sovereign or subordinate? Is Christianity to be crumpled up as easily in the fingers of statesmen in this country as it was crumpled up in the fingers of kings, kaisers and czars in Europe?"

"Mr. Bryan, I do not say that these questions are easily answered, or that we are all of one mind here about them, but I have the pleasure in presenting you to a Christian community and in presenting to you a Christian audience in the chapel of a Christian college."

Upon rising Colonel Bryan stated that he deemed it a pleasure to address such an audience in such a Christian institution. He stated that he did not think that every question propounded by Dr. White would be found answered separately in his address, but that he thought that an answer to each and every one would be found embodied in the lecture.

Colonel Bryan, in presenting the subject, stated that it was with a view to emphasizing the lessons which this country can draw from the conflict beyond the ocean. He divided his address into three parts as follows: First, the war as it is and its injuries to neutrals; second, the false philosophy; and third, the way out, or permanent peace.

The speaker stated that the present conflict in Europe is not the greatest war in the history of the world, although it might be classed as the biggest war, it is to be measured by the population of the nations at war.

Speaking of the human destructiveness of the war in Europe, Mr. Bryan stated that if on any part of the globe, 100,000 persons should be swept to death by pestilence, or flood or famine, the world would stand appalled while in the past fourteen months, "more than twenty times 100,000 have been summoned to meet their God, and every one owes his death to the deliberate intent and act of a fellow-man."

The War's Destructiveness.

Mr. Bryan mentioned the terrible destructiveness of the improved war implements now being used—"they have taken possession of the air, and thunderbolts more deadly than the thunderbolts of Jove fall on unsuspecting people." "And they now pour liquid fire on battle lines and suffocate soldiers in the trenches with poisoning gases. Inventive genius has been exhausted to find new ways by which man can kill his fellowman!"

The speaker mentioned the fact that the participants in the present war are among the most civilized people of the earth, and are among the Christian nations of the globe. "They all worship the same God; and most of them approach that God through the same mediator. They offer their supplications to a common Heavenly Father, and then rise up to take each other's lives."

Mr. Bryan emphasized the fact that the war in Europe has deranged the commerce of the world, declaring that the United States, the greatest of the neutral nations, is suffering more than any of the others. He said he had reached the point where he is of the opinion that international law was written for the benefit of nations at war, rather than for the benefit of nations at peace. He said he hoped that when this war is over it will be possible to secure such changes as may write international law upon the theory that peace, not war, is the normal relation between nations.

Violation of Neutrality.

Speaking of the violation of the United States' neutrality, Mr. Bryan declared that offenses had not been committed by one side alone, but that

A CHILD TONGUE SHOWS IF LIVER OR BOWELS ARE ACTIVE

If cross, feverish, sick, bilious, give fruit laxative at once.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue. Mother! It coated, gives less of this harmless "fruit" "active," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a transatlantic today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

they had been committed by both the Germans and the allies, and that his firm conviction was that neither had desired to do so. "The injuries which we have suffered have not been intended against us, but have been incident to the injury which each has intended against the other," he declared.

Cause of War.

Passing from the magnitude of the war in Europe and its injury to neutrals, Mr. Bryan discussed at length the cause of the war. That it is the false philosophy, "might makes right," which lies at the bottom of the conflict, is the decision he has reached after a careful analysis of the situation. And to this cause he also added greed for more territory. The speaker cited the fact that not one of the nations at war will accept the responsibility for the war, and in this situation Mr. Bryan sees a ray of hope, for, he declares, it indicates that the world has reached the stage in its development where all civilized nations admit that wars are a curse. With this feeling prevailing, the nations of the earth can devote all their energies to the study of peace.

Colonel Bryan, with much vehemence, declared that the doctrine that the only way to prevent war is to prepare for war, and which an effort is being made to popularize in the United States now, is false philosophy, and he said that the interest of advocates of such doctrines could usually be traced to business connections. As an example of the folly of preparedness to prevent war, Mr. Bryan cited the nations now at war, which he said were all prepared and waiting for the war to break.

Tribute to Wilson.
"If you would know what the dangers of preparedness will be, if preparedness becomes a national policy and is administered by those who are leading in this crusade, just imagine what the situation would be today with so many opportunities to get into trouble, if we had in the White House a jingo with the duelist's standard of honor and anxious for a fight. We have reason to be grateful that we have as president a man who loves peace and is trying to find a peaceful solution of all the problems that confront us."

Expense of Preparedness.

Mr. Bryan went into the details of the enormous expense of equipping an army and navy such as many advocates of preparedness are advocating, and he declared that the tax payers of the country will not be willing to bear the burdens necessary for the proposed preparations unless they are convinced that some nation is about to attack this country. He stated that there has never been a time in fifty years when the United States were in less danger of war than at the present.

Under the head of permanent peace, Col. Bryan alluded to the thirty treaties which this country now has with nations representing three-fourths of the people of the world, which treaties make war almost impossible. On the subject, Mr. Bryan said in part:

"I have such faith in these treaties that I believe that a thousand years from now the name of Woodrow Wilson and my name will be linked together in the capitals of the world and that these treaties will preserve the peace of our nation by furnishing machinery by which peace can be preserved with honor."

But what is more important than length of life, these treaties contain no exceptions; they cover all disputes of every kind and character. Each one of these thirty treaties provides that every dispute that defies diplomatic settlement, if not by some other treaty submitted to an international commission for investigation and report. Each one of these thirty treaties also provides that the period of investigation may last a year, and each one of these treaties further provides that during the period of investigation neither side shall declare war or begin hostilities.

The Lusitania Incident.

Speaking of the controversy between the United States and Germany relative to the Lusitania incident, Col. Bryan took the position that, while under international law, the persons who perished in the disaster, had the right to venture into the war zone, that they also had a duty to perform to their country, and should have considered the consequences. He explained:

"Every American citizen has duties as well as rights. Do you say that it is the duty of this government to take its army and follow an American citizen around the world and protect his rights? That is only one side of the proposition. The obligations of citizenship are reciprocal. It is the duty of the citizen to consider his country's safety and the welfare of his fellowmen. In time of war the government can take the son from his widowed mother and compel him to give his life to help his country out of war. If in time of war the government can compel its citizens to die in order to bring the war to an end, the government can, in time of peace, say to its citizens that they shall not, by taking unnecessary risks, drag their country into war and compel their sacrifice of their countrymen."

Col. Bryan says as the greatest objection to the United States involving itself in the present war, the fact that this country stands at the head of the neutral nations, and that the world is looking to the United States to act as mediator when the time for mediation comes. He continued:

"Some nation must lift the world out of the black night of war into the light of that day when an enduring peace can be built on love and brotherhood, and I crave that honor for this nation. More glorious than any page of history that has yet been written will be the page that records our claims to the promise made to the peace-makers."

Precedent and Progress.

"This is the day for which the ages have been waiting. For 1900 years the gospel of the Prince of Peace has been making its majestic march around the world, and during these centuries the philosophy of the crumpled of the

MR. TROWBRIDGE HAS MADE ARRANGEMENTS FOR SOME PHOTOPLAYS

IN EIGHT REELS

Also One 12 Reel Picture Will Be Presented—Secured Charlie Chaplin Releases.

Andersonians are soon to have an opportunity of seeing some eight and 12 reel photoplays. Mr. J. J. Trowbridge has just returned from Atlanta, Ga., and he announces that he has contracts for some of the most noted and best Paramount pictures ever released.

The 12 reel photoplay is entitled "Caberia" and is represented as one of the most thrilling and interesting pictures ever put on a screen. It is said that this picture is creating interest something like a sensation wherever it is shown.

One noticeable picture on the list is "The Eternal City," presented in eight reels. This picture is known too well to be commented upon. Many Anderson people have been anxiously awaiting the time when they would have an opportunity of seeing it.

"Carmen," one of the most costly productions ever made by the Paramount people, is also due to be shown here. Other pictures booked include: "The Girl of Yesterday," featuring Mary Pickford, "Zaza," with Pauline Frederick in the lead, and "The Fatal Card," featuring Hazel Dawn.

Mr. Trowbridge also stated that he had arranged for some new Charlie Chaplin releases in the near future among them being "The Bank," "A Night at the Show," and "Shanghaied."

ROBERTS SCHOOL

The school at this place opened the 1915-16 session on October 18th with a fairly good enrollment, which has gradually increased to 71.

On Monday the 8th of November, Superintendent J. B. Felton came over to the school, reaching there just as the opening exercises terminated. He visited all the grades and took a special interest in mathematics. The only thing we have to say in regard to Mr. Felton's visit is that he came again at his convenience.

There will be a box party given by the school on Wednesday evening, the 24th of November. Mr. F. M. Burnett has been asked to make the address. It will begin promptly at 7:30. The public is asked to participate.

Chamberlain's Tablets.
This is a medicine intended especially for stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation. It is meeting with much success and rapidly gaining in favor and popularity. For sale by all dealers.

Mount has become more and more the rule of daily life. It only remains to lift that code of morals from the level of the individual and make it real in the law of nations, and ours is the nation best prepared to set the example. We are less hampered by precedent than other nations and therefore more free to act. I appreciate the value of precedent—what higher tribute can I pay it than to say that it is as universal as the law of gravitation and as necessary to stability? And yet the law of gravitation controls only inanimate nature—everything that lives is in constant combat with the law of gravitation. The tiniest insect that creeps upon the ground wins a victory over every time it moves; even the slender blade of grass sings a song of triumph over the universal law as it lifts itself up toward the sun. So every step in human progress breaks the law of precedent. Precedent lives in the past—it relies on memory; because a thing never was precedent declares that it can never be. Progress walks by faith and dares to try the things that ought to be.

This, too, is the leading Christian nation. We give more money every year to carry the gospel to those who live under other flags than any other nation now living or that has lived. The two reasons combine to fix the eyes of the world upon us as the one nation which is at liberty to lead the way from the blood-stained methods of the past out into the larger and better day.

We must not disappoint the hopes which our ideals and achievements have excited. If I know the heart of the American people they are not willing that this supreme opportunity shall pass by unimproved. No, the metropolitan press is not the voice of the nation; you can no more measure the sentiment of the peace-loving masses by the froth of the jingo press than you can measure the ocean's silent depths by the foam upon its waves. I thank you."

Dinner for Colonel Bryan.
Colonel Bryan arrived in Anderson yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock and got off the car at Anderson college. Last night he was entertained at dinner at the college. Among those present were: Dr. and Mrs. James P. Kinard, Mr. Fred M. Burnett, Mrs. Dugan, Misses Helen Smith, Mary Abbott, Cody and De Vaux.

Speaks to College Students.
Mr. Bryan will speak to the college students this morning at 9 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend.

GREAT CELEBRATION AT CHARLESTON

December 13th to 17th, 1915

The Southern Commercial Congress will be held at Charleston December 13th to 17th, 1915. This is an Association of prominent business men from all over the South and meetings are held each year for the purpose of discussing business welfare, both of the manufacturer and of the farmer. Last year the Congress was held at Oklahoma City and the year before at Mobile. This year the meeting is to be held at Charleston and very many men of prominent business, social and public life have already accepted invitations to be present. At least four members of the Cabinet of the President of the United States will be present at the meeting.

A squadron of the Atlantic Fleet, Torpedo Boats, Submarines and Torpedo Boat Destroyers, as well as Dreadnaughts, will be in the Charleston Harbor, open for inspection of the public, December 14th and 15th, and visitors at this time will also have the pleasure of seeing a magnificent carnival.

Southern Railway is arranging special fare tickets and excursion trains.

We are recommending our 10-1-0 and 10-2-0 and 10-2-1/2-0 for wheat and oats this fall when you sow it.

This will give it stalk and grains in the head, and that it what you want in grain. If you will sow five acres in wheat and five in oats this fall, after preparing the land well and fertilizing it well with either of these goods, you will find it advantageous. The 10-2-1/2-0 is an especially fine goods for grain. Let us hear from you.
